Registration Dates

Registration for the Spring 2020 semester begins on Tuesday, April 7, 2020 and runs through Friday, April 17, 2020. You can find the date and time at which you become eligible to register on PAWS. If you have yet to do so, please familiarize yourself with the PAWS system.
This is the ideal time to make an appointment to see your faculty advisor in philosophy. Email works well for purposes of making that appointment. Or you can phone or just drop by during office hours. Our full contact information is listed here: http://philos.pages.tcnj.edu/faculty/

If you are unsure who your advisor is, you can check your PAWS account. Or you can contact Cecilia Colbeth – 609.771.2539 or colbeth@tcnj.edu. Ms. Colbeth can also let you know your advisor's office hours.

Make sure you are acquainted with PAWS. The “what if” reports (under “advising tools”) can be particularly useful. If you need any help with the system, please contact your advisor directly. Ms. Colbeth may also be able to assist you with many issues.

The Mini-Catalog lets you know just what courses our department will offer this coming spring and gives you some detailed information about those courses. It can be found at the end of this letter and at http://philos.pages.tcnj.edu/. Please do not hesitate to contact the instructor if you have any questions or need additional information about the course!

The last page of Mini-Catalog consists of a table summing up the requirements for the philosophy major as well as for the specializations in Ethics and in Law and Philosophy and for our programs in religion and classical studies. This would be a good time to review those requirements against what you have already accomplished to see what you need to do next. To help as well, please see below for an “idealized” sequence of courses for the philosophy major.

If you have already taken Introduction to Logic (PHL 120) but no other course in philosophy, do keep in mind that you might want to take another 100-level course before you tackle our upper-level courses. Seats in both Contemporary Moral Issues (PHL 135) and in Introduction to Philosophy (PHL 100) should remain available for first and second year students throughout registration period. Similarly, if you've already taken those courses, it might be time to do Introduction to Logic. Again, seats should remain available for first and second year students. Please do let Ms. Colbeth know if you face any obstacle there. These courses are described in the Mini-Catalog.
For those majors and minors who have already done some work in philosophy, our schedule for the fall is amazing. It includes Ancient Philosophy (PHL 201), Political Philosophy (PHL 240), Existentialism (PHL 245), and a Special Topics course (PHL 270.01 - Animals Don't Talk). Ancient Philosophy is required for the major, and the other 200 level courses can count towards philosophy electives. There are also 300 level courses that count as electives in the major: PHL 370.01 Topics: Existentialism, and PHL 370.02 Topics: Animals Don't Talk. PHL 430 Advanced Ethics may be taken to satisfy the Ethics requirement for the major and the specialization.

Especially for juniors . . .
You should take special care that you are on target for completing your senior capstone requirements. The one-unit Senior Project is usually completed during the spring term of the senior year but depending on the student's individual situation can be completed during the fall term instead. The two-unit Senior Thesis is typically completed over both terms of the senior year (the Senior Thesis Research in the fall and the Senior Thesis in the spring). Whether you are on the usual schedule or not, around the time of registration the term before you are ready to begin the capstone – that is, now, if you plan to start the capstone this coming term -- you should do the following:
(A) identify the faculty member you would like to complete your senior capstone with;
(B) contact that person to set up a meeting;
(C) try to agree on an area of common research interest and on whether your aim should be a senior project or a senior thesis; and
(D) enroll in the appropriate component of the capstone with that faculty member. That person will henceforth serve as your project or thesis advisor.
And, between now and the time when you actually begin the capstone work, keep in close contact with that advisor so that any necessary preliminary groundwork can be accomplished.

Especially for seniors . . .
We are so excited and happy for you yet so hate to see you go! If you haven’t yet arranged for a job or a seat in law school or graduate school or other program, please keep clearly in mind once you leave us that we will always be here to support you – to continue to serve as your advisors and to write letters of recommendation on your behalf and for anything else you may need. Your rights to our services and our enthusiasm for providing them do not end at graduation; they are yours for life. Please just let us know what happens next; please stay in touch.

PHILOSOPHY COURSES

PHL 100/Introduction to Philosophy
Sec. 01 Govantes 9:30 – 10:50 AM MR
Sec. 02 McAndrews 10:50 – 11:40 AM MR
Sec. 03 Sharadin 12:30 – 1:00 PM TF

A course that examines the fundamentals of philosophical argument, analysis and reasoning, as applied to a series of issues in logic, epistemology, metaphysics and ethics. Topics covered may include: logical validity, theories of knowledge and belief, the nature of mind, the nature of reality, arguments for the existence of God, and theories of right and wrong. (LL: World Views & Ways of Knowing)

PHL 120/Introduction to Logic
Sec. 01 Taylor 9:30 – 10:50 AM MR
Sec. 02 Taylor 11:00 – 12:20 PM MR
Sec. 03 Taylor 12:30 – 1:50 PM MR

A course on the basic principles and techniques of correct reasoning in ordinary life and the sciences. Study of the formal systems of sentence logic and predicate logic. Translation of natural language statements and arguments and analysis and evaluation of deductive arguments through the construction of proofs. Focus particularly on the power and precision of the natural language with the aim of helping students increase their ability to think and write with creativity, precision and rigor. (This course is recommended for pre-law students and satisfies a requirement for the Law and Society Interdisciplinary Concentration and for the Law, Politics and Philosophy Interdisciplinary minor.) (LL: World Views & Ways of Knowing; Writing Intensive)

PHL 135/Contemporary Moral Issues
Sec. 01 Pascale 8:00 – 9:20 AM MR
Sec. 02 Pascale 9:30 – 10:50 AM MR

This course provides an introduction to ethics, one of the main branches of philosophy. It aims to familiarize students with basic concepts and theories in ethics, and with how they may be applied to a range of contemporary moral issues. Topics addressed may include racism, sexism, abortion, euthanasia, cloning, capital punishment, our obligations to the disadvantaged, the treatment of non-human animals, just war, and the like. Students will be encouraged to learn from great thinkers of the past and of the present, to examine their own moral values and beliefs, and to take reasoned and informed stands on the issues treated. (LL: World Views & Ways of Knowing)

PHL 201/History of Ancient Philosophy
Sec. 01 McAndrews 11:00 – 12:20 PM MR

Prerequisite: One course in philosophy or permission of instructor

This is a survey course on Plato and Aristotle. In order to place these two philosophers within their historical context, we shall begin by exploring the thought of the Pre-Socratic Philosophers (Parmenides, Zeno, Anaxagoras and Democritus) and the Sophists (Gorgias and Protagoras). The focus of the course shall be on epistemology, metaphysics and psychology. For Plato, we shall read two or three of the early dialogues (including the Euthyphro), both the Meno and the Phaedo, and parts of the Republic. We shall also look at Plato’s own criticism of the theory of the Forms in the Parmenides. For Aristotle, we shall read some of the organon, including parts of the Categories and the Posterior Analytics. These works provide the basis for Aristotle’s own rejection of the theory of Forms and they also introduce us to his conception of ‘scientific knowledge’. We shall read substantial selections from three of Aristotle’s more prominent works: the Nicomachean Ethics, the Physics, and On the Soul. (LL: World Views & Way of Knowing, Writing Intensive)
PHL 240/Political Philosophy  Sec.01 Sharadin 9:30 – 10:50AM TF
A course providing a systematic historical survey of the main issues in political philosophy. The main topics to be discussed include: the justification of political authority, modern social contract theories of the state, conceptions of distributive justice, and contemporary liberal, communitarian, and cosmopolitan theories of political organizations. Significant attention will be given to contemporary debates in political philosophy such as social justice and duties beyond borders.

PHL 245/ Existentialism  Sec.01 Kamber 3:30 – 4:50 PM MR
Prerequisites: One course in philosophy or permission of instructor.

A course examining existentialism and the work of philosophers and writers associated with existentialism. Since the name “Existentialism” is a covering term for a diverse group of post-Hegelian, European philosophers, this course emphasizes the distinctive views of individual figures. Among the figures considered are Kierkegaard, Nietzsche, Heidegger, and Sartre, Beauvoir, and Camus. (LL: World Views & Ways of Knowing)

PHL 270/Topics: Animals Don’t Talk: Things You Should Know About The Nature of Language and Intelligence  Sec.01 Preti 3:30 – 6:20 PM R
Prerequisite: One PHL course or permission of instructor

A distinctly human characteristic is that we acquire and use language. A language is used to communicate, but not all communication is a language. So, what makes something a language? How do symbols combine into other symbols that we call words and sentences of a language? What is grammar? Do you learn grammar? What does it mean to acquire a language? Do languages have rules? Can you acquire more than one language at the same time? If you don’t learn a language by a certain age, is it possible to acquire one later on? And why don’t animals have language? Is it because their faces are all wrong for vocalization? Or is it something else? How do minds that have linguistic capacities differ from those who do not? We will be discussing these and other fascinating issues concerning language, mind, and intelligence, in humans and in non-human species in this course. (LL: World Views & Ways of Knowing)
PHL 430/Advanced Ethics
Sec.01 Roberts  3:30 – 6:20 PM T

Prerequisite: PHL 120 and two 200-level or higher philosophy courses or permission of instructor
Seminar on contemporary issues in ethical theory, applied ethics, or the philosophy of law. Topics treated will vary depending on the instructor, but will always involve concentrated study at the advanced level.
(LL: World Views & Ways of Knowing)

PHL 494/Senior Project
Prerequisite: Senior status or junior status, and permission of instructor
A writing project prepared under the advisement of a member of the philosophy faculty. Students must complete a carefully researched and written, in-depth work in philosophy on a topic of significance in philosophy, selected by the student in consultation with faculty and written under the close supervision of a faculty member who serves as advisor.

PHL 495/Senior Thesis Research
Prerequisite: Senior standing as a philosophy major and permission of instructor
Independent research under the guidance of a full-time faculty member on a mutually agreed-on topic. Students will be expected to define a topic suitable for a capstone thesis, conduct a series of appropriate literature reviews, and develop a writing plan.

PHL 496/Senior Thesis
Prerequisite: PHL 495 and permission of instructor
A substantial writing project prepared under the advisement of a member of the philosophy faculty. Students must complete a carefully researched and written, in-depth work in philosophy on a topic of significance in philosophy, selected by the student in consultation with faculty and written under the close supervision of a faculty adviser.

RELIGION COURSES

REL 110/World Religions
Sec.01 Thate 11:00 – 12:20 PM TF
This course focuses on the exploration of the world’s major religious traditions. Students will examine and compare the essential teachings, and the historical and cultural context, of most or all of the following: Hinduism, Buddhism, Judaism, Christianity, Islam, and one or more additional non-western traditions.
(LL: World Views & Ways of Knowing; Global)

REL 111/Buddhism & Buddhist Thought
Sec.01 Thomas  9:30 – 10:50 AM TF
This course will study the historical and philosophical development of Buddhism from its origin in India to its modern day practice in Japan and Tibet. It will explore the essential teachings and practice of Buddhism both in its early and modern form found in India, Sri Lanka, China, Japan and Tibet. It will examine both primary texts from various Buddhist traditions and secondary materials in order to gain a better appreciation for this religious tradition that has survived in Asia for centuries and is gaining popularity in the West in recent times.
(LL: World Views & Ways of Knowing; Global)
REL 113/Islam and Islamic Thought  Sec.01 Thomas 11:00 – 12:50 PM TF

Course examining Islam and some of the intellectual traditions that have flourished in conjunction with it. Students will study the historical origins and essential teachings of this religion and explore some of the literary and philosophical traditions that developed from or in close connection with Islam.
(LL: World Views & Ways of Knowing; Global)

REL 120/Early Judaism  Sec.01 Greenbaum  11:00 – 12:20 PM MR
Sec.02 Greenbaum  12:30 – 1:50 PM MR

This course will cover the development of Jewish history and religious life from the Biblical through the medieval periods. Particular attention will be paid to literary sources, the historical development of ideas, and Jewish ritual cycles. We will, for example, examine the development of the celebration and meaning of Jewish festivals, life cycle events and practices. Also probed will be the growth of Jewish law and understanding of Scriptures. There is no requirement for any previous understanding of Judaism—all students are encouraged to enroll.
(LL: World Views & Ways of Knowing)

REL 305/Ancient Christianity  Sec. 01 Boera 2:00 – 3:20 PM TF
Sec. 02 Boera 3:30 – 4:50 PM TF

Course focusing on the emergence of early Christianities during the first four centuries of the Common Era, in the Roman Empire and surrounding areas. The course will take into account the philosophical, political, cultural, and religious interactions (conflicts and differences within emerging communities) which challenged Christian groups and gradually shaped the Catholic Orthodox faith. Beliefs, ritual practices, scriptures, and structures of authority will be examined. We will also address issues of anti-Jewish sentiment, issues involving the theological understanding and role of women, and the role of violence in these developments.

REL 320/Holocaust: Historical & Religious Persp.  Sec.01 Rech 9:30-10:50 AM TF

This course will provide a background to the actual events and an introduction to the historiographic, philosophical and religious dimensions of the Holocaust. The main focus of the course will be interpreting the causes, events, and lessons in light of the historical, philosophical, and religious perspectives. This course will lead students to a fuller understanding of the Holocaust and its effect on contemporary religious and philosophical life.
(LL: World Views & Ways of Knowing)

CLASSICAL STUDIES COURSES

CLS 170.01/Topics: The Greek City State  Sec. 01 Chiekova 12:30 – 1:50 PM MR

CLS 250/Introduction to Greek Mythology  Sec.01 Haynes  11:00 – 12:20 PM TF
.02 Haynes  2:00 – 3:20 PM TF
.03 Pilney  3:30 – 4:50 PM MR
.04 Dakin  9:30 – 10:50 AM TF

This course is an introduction to ancient Greek mythology through primary texts such as Homer’s Iliad and Odyssey, Aeschylus’ Agamemnon, Sophocles’ Ajax, et al. We shall focus on the Trojan War cycle of myths and its greatest heroes in order to understand how the ancient Greeks explored important aspects of their society through literature that ostensibly presents mythological events and characters. Attention is also given to visual representations of myth in sculpture and on vases and to differentiating the ancient Greek concept of “myth” from our own.
(LL: Literary, Visual & Performing Arts)

CLS 270.01/Topics: Ancient Sports/Athletics  Sec. 01 Dakin 11:00 – 12:20 PM TF
Athletics and sports were as popular and significant in the ancient Greek world as they are today. They offer an excellent introduction to many aspects of ancient Greek culture and their influence over the centuries. Illustrated lectures, reinforced and amplified by readings from ancient and modern authors, as well as by discussion in class, will introduce such topics as: the development of Greek athletics, the sites where games were held, the nature of individual events, and social implications such as athletic professionalism, women and athletics, the role of sport in Greek education. Wider cultural aspects that will be explored include the religious, political, and economic contexts of athletics; how their ideology found expression in literature and the visual arts; issues of class, gender, nationalism, and ethnicity; and, of course, whether the modern Olympic Games are anything like the ancient ones.

CLS 305/Ancient Christianity
Sec. 01 Boera 2:00 – 3:20 PM TF
Sec. 02 Boera 3:30 – 4:50 PM TF
Course focusing on the emergence of early Christianities during the first four centuries of the Common Era, in the Roman Empire and surrounding areas. The course will take into account the philosophical, political, cultural, and religious interactions (conflicts and differences within emerging communities) which challenged Christian groups and gradually shaped the Catholic Orthodox faith. Beliefs, ritual practices, scriptures, and structures of authority will be examined. We will also address issues of anti-Jewish sentiment, issues involving the theological understanding and role of women, and the role of violence in these developments.
